Iraqi Rebel Army Reported Marching on Baghdad

MACMILLAN IN A TOUR OF CAPITALS

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
PARIS (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today began a swing around the capitals of his major allies in search of a Western policy to take into negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Arriving in Paris to confer with President Charles de Gaulle, Macmillan said he feels the Soviets want to negotiate on Berlin.

"The Soviets accept that these immediate problems—Berlin, Germany and so on—ought to be settled by negotiations," Macmillan said.

He conceded there are wide differences between the West and the Soviets. He said in view of this, it is all the more important for the Western Allies to get together "to confirm our common policy and purpose."

In East Berlin, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev held a surprising meeting with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's chief political opponent, Socialist party Chairman Erich Ollenhauer.

The meeting, held in the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin, angered West Berlin papers.

Khrushchev also continued talking with East German leaders about the Red campaign to drive the Western Allies out of West Berlin. He declared at a reception in the East Berlin City Hall that communism will replace capitalism, just as capitalism replaced feudalism, but without war. He warned his fellow Communists that the victory would require "all our will and strength."

Paris was Macmillan's first stop to report to President Charles de Gaulle on his talks in Moscow with Khrushchev. The prime minister returns to London Tuesday night and flies Thursday to Bonn to give West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer a fill-in. On March 19 he arrives in Washington to go over the Western views with President Eisenhower.

At the end of his tour, Macmillan said Sunday, he hopes the West will have concerted "a policy which will be firm and yet flexible enough to reach a successful conclusion of any negotiations."

The British, French, West German and U.S. governments all are agreed that they must stand firm against Khrushchev's threat to push the Western Allies out of West Berlin. But they still must work out proposals with which to counter the Soviet threat to write a separate peace treaty with East Germany and give the East German (Turn to Page Twelve)

Stars of Stage and Screen Visit Dystrophy Victim

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Gilbert Schooling, 15, dying of muscular dystrophy and pneumonia, met his heroes in person Sunday.

He looked out of his oxygen tent and a smile split his face when he saw movie star Pat O'Brien, actor Jimmy Bryan and television actor Tim Coffin.

They were old friends to Gilbert. He had watched them often on TV. He told his best friend, Sheriff's Dep. Jerry Centner, he'd like to have them come to see him.

Centner said that turned out to (Turn to Page Twelve)

Oil-Rich Nation Long Has Been Huge Question Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Iraq has been one of the Middle East's biggest question marks since Premier Abdel Karim Kassem led an army revolt that cut down the monarchy last July 14.

For a generation Iraq, led by political strong man Nuri Said, had been the West's strongest bastion in the Middle East. But Nuri was killed as he attempted to flee disguised as a woman, young King Faisal was shot to death in his palace and his uncle, Crown Prince Abdul Ilah, was torn to pieces by a mob.

Hearing in Commissioner's Petition on Prothonotary Accounts Encounters Delay

Delay in today's scheduled court hearing called to consider a petition filed by County Commissioner Blain M. Mead and Lewis L. Crippen to strike judgements of reports of Warren County auditors as to the accounts of Ralph E. Sires, Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts since January, 1948, was created when County Solicitor Richard Leuthold petitioned the court to consider the possible disqualification of Judge Alexander C. Flick, Jr. to preside over the case.

Judge Flick had advised that should such a motion be made, action would be taken to secure Judge Elmer Evans to hear the qualification petition and hand down the required opinion. It is anticipated that this will take place during the middle or latter part of next week.

Accused of bombing his $20,000 home, Alfred Gaimari, above, 38, is under arrest in Chicago, Ill. Brooding over marital troubles, he told police, "The only thing of value I owned was the house, and they told me I couldn't live in it. So I blew it up."—NEA Service Telephoto.

Ike Says No Help Needed To Meet The Berlin Crisis

By JAC KRELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Democrats are renewing their demands for stepped-up U.S. military power despite President Eisenhower's assurance no more is needed to meet the crisis over Berlin.

Eisenhower met Friday with Senate and House leaders of both parties. He reportedly told them that there is nothing he wants Congress to do now to beef up U.S. military might. They said they were told the tools needed to deal with the threat to Berlin have been provided.

But numerous Democrats spoke out during the weekend for more spending and greater military preparedness for longer range developments, even as they expressed hope that negotiations will settle the Berlin situation this summer.

Democratic leaders are going ahead quietly with plans to make available up to 750 million dollars more than Eisenhower asked for intercontinental missiles.

While this step is being initiated in the House, a Senate Preparedness subcommittee, headed by Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, will be engaged in a thorough-going reassessment of defense strength.

in office trying to consolidate his rule. Oil, the backbone of Iraq's economy and the source of the money for its development programs, continued to flow out to the West. The government stuck to its royalty agreements.

The new regime started a land distribution program, slashed rents—at the expense of property owners—and attempted to take power from the traditional masters of rural Iraq, the sheiks. But development projects lagged and unemployment increased, arousing public discontent.

Only six weeks after the revolt, Kassem was already far out on his tight rope. He removed his fellow conspirator, Col. Abdel Salem Aref, as deputy commander of the armed forces and sent him off to West Germany as ambassador.

Kassem spent his first months (Turn to Page Twelve)

Briefly, the County Solicitor, in presenting reasons for disqualification of Judge Flick, mentioned that a meeting between the judge, Warren County auditors and the prothonotary might require his testimony in the current court proceedings; that the judge was a former Warren County Solicitor (1948-51); and that Sire's legal counsel, Warren M. Stone, being a former law partner and brother-in-law to Judge Flick, brought out the question of fixing of legal fees which are ordered by the court.

Mr. Stone filed preliminary objections to the Commissioners' petition as not sufficient to strike judgements; no validity in content with no legal fraud naturally inferred and that no new audit was required. Any action on this legal question is postponed until the Judge's qualifications have been reviewed and a decision made.

The original petition against accounts of the Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts was offered in amended form this morning to include more specific details of items set forth with particular emphasis placed on floral orders placed during 1954, averring that the $78.83 expense was personal as ordered by Sires and members of his family for friends and relatives, and not chargeable to the County. Another similar item entered as car maintenance etc. 1954, amounting to $306.73, was also averred personal and not bona fide county expense.

Other amounts in question, detailed as miscellaneous expenses and petty cash, were not considered today, but are included in the commissioners' petition along with $150 contribution to Warren County Republican Committee and $25 filing fee. The requested judgements (Turn to Page Twelve)

Showdown With Authorities Ends Life of Convict

TRENTON, Ga. (AP)—A one-shot showdown with peace officers brought death to an Alabama convict at the end of one of the largest manhunts ever centered in the tri-state area of Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee.

Desperado William Smithers, 38, died in surgery at nearby Ft. Oglethorpe Hospital Saturday night a few hours after the police chief of this northwest Georgia mountain city sent a bullet into his shoulder.

Chief H. H. Hutchings and Sheriff Allison Elverson got on the convict's trail through a telephone tip. They found him in a field near U.S. 11 in the Wildwood community, just south of the Tennessee line and about 20 miles southwest of Chattanooga.

"Smithers drew a gun from under his coat," Hutchings said, "and stuck it in the sheriff's face."

"I beat him to it. Before he could pull the trigger, I shot him."

The single shot climaxed a hunt that began Thursday after Smithers, serving six robbery sentences, launched his bid for freedom near Birmingham.

Communist Party Scores Victories At French Polls

PARIS (AP) — After a brief flirtation with President Charles de Gaulle, steady followers of France's Communist party were back in the Red fold today. They may have brought along a few friends.

This was the most striking result of elections held throughout France and many overseas territories Sunday for municipal councilors. Voting was held in about 38,000 communities to choose nearly 500,000 councilors from a list of more than a million candidates.

On all fronts the Communists rallied from their setback last fall in the election of the new National Assembly. The Communist percentage of the vote then dropped from the 24 per cent they had maintained in most postwar elections to about 18 per cent.

Returns from the big cities and most of the smaller towns indicated the Reds again took about 1 vote in every 4 Sunday.

Constitution Revision Commission Reports

HARRISBURG (AP)—Six of the 15-member constitutional revision commission voted for a complete revision of the basic law rather than patching it with amendments as recommended today by the majority.

The minority report said that general revision actually is long overdue and added:

"We are convinced that the needed strengthening cannot be achieved by a piecemeal attack on the problem."

Wide Search on for Missing Campfire Girl

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — The search for a missing nine-year-old Campfire Girl went into its fourth day today with hardly a trace to go on and a vow by a policeman inspector that "we'll keep searching for her until we find out, one way or the other."

Police checked every phone call — there have been hundreds — offering a lead to the disappearance of Candice Elaine Rogers. The little blue-eyed girl was last seen Friday after school when she set out to sell candy mints to raise money for her Campfire troop.

PLATE GLASS REPORT
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. reports the business recession in the early months of 1958 and a strike in the last quarter caused substantial declines in sales and earnings for the year.

Net income was $32,076,000 or $3.24 a share, compared with 1957 profits of $57,963,000 equal to $5.86 a share, the company said Sunday.

Death waited at a second railroad crossing Saturday morning at 10:52 and claimed its third victim, Mrs. Florence Hinkle, 53, of RD 1 Warren. Two other area people were fatalities two weeks ago when the car in which they were riding was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad train.

Mrs. Hinkle was instantly killed when the 1958 jeep station wagon, driven by her husband, J. D. Hinkle, 60, was squarely hit by a south bound PRR freight with two diesel engines at the Putnam Eddy road intersection about five miles north east of Warren near Hemlock. Mr. Hinkle was removed to Warren General Hospital suffering fractured ribs. (Turn to Page Twelve)

Criminal Action Faces Prisoners Who Staged Riot

WALPOLE, Mass. (AP) — Authorities today prepared criminal actions against six state prison inmates who grabbed six hostages and threatened to kill them in a two-hour reign of terror Saturday.

Steel-helmeted guards burst into the prison's metal shop to rescue the hostages who included Warden John A. Gavin and the Rev. Edward F. Hartigan, Catholic chaplain.

Nearly 100 state troopers gathered outside the prison. On a signal from Maj. Arthur J. O'Leary 25 troopers broke through seven windows and a door with orders to "shoot to kill."

The tough convicts gave up quickly when they saw the rioters armed with machine guns, riot guns, rifles, revolvers and tear gas bombs.

Moments earlier they had poured inflammable paint thinner over the hostages and threatened to set them afire. The convicts tied some of the hostages with wire and threatened them with knives.

Another Jaycee Event Scheduled for April

Warren Jaycees will again co-sponsor observance of National Library Week in Warren April 12-18 with Chairman William M. Hill, Jr., working with a full committee and in co-operation with the local library staff. The program will be designed to focus public attention on the function a modern library plays in a progressive community. The first event will find a Library booth displayed at the Jaycee Industry on Parade Show to be held April 3 and 4 at Beatty school auditorium. Other scheduled observance will be announced in a complete account in tomorrow's Times-Mirror.

Philadelphia Is Given Boost for GOP Convention

By BILL ALEXANDER
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The City of Philadelphia was given a "very favorable" rating Sunday as a site for the 1960 Republican presidential convention.

The designation came from two members of the Site Committee of the Republican National Committee.

Ray C. Bliss, Akron, Ohio, and Richard F. Cooper, Rochester, N. H., spent the day making a personal appraisal of the city's hotel accommodations and the facilities of Convention Hall.

More than a score of prominent citizens of both parties played host to the visitors at a luncheon where several speakers extolled the advantages of the Quaker City as a site for the party's convention.

Philadelphia and Chicago are considered the leading possibilities for the convention with Miami Beach a close third.

Plan To Promote State For Industry-Travel

HARRISBURG (AP) — Two Pennsylvania advertising agencies headed by top Democrats have split a $47,000 contract to promote Pennsylvania for industry and travel.

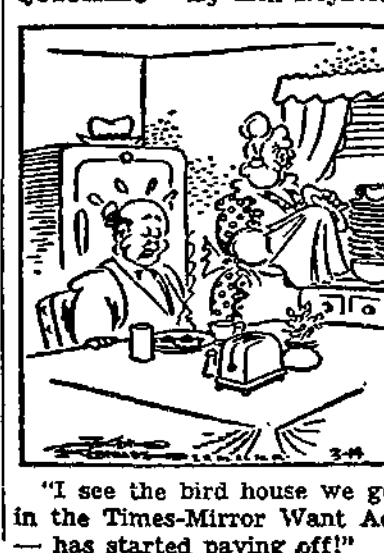

The Commerce Department disclosed Saturday that the New York firm which handled the work during the administration of former Gov. George M. Leader had been dismissed. The firm, Kastor, Farrell, Chesley and Clifford, Inc., helped Leader in his 1954 campaign.

The new contract was split between the Beacon Agency, Inc., of Philadelphia and Kelly, Bachmann and Troutman of Pittsburgh.

SIMMERING UNREST SAID TO HAVE BROKEN OUT IN OPEN REVOLT IN MIDEAST

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraqi nationalist rebels claimed today their army is marching on Baghdad to crush the Communist-influenced government of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem.

Kassem's warplanes bombed Mosul, a major oil center 220 miles northeast of Baghdad that is the seat of a revolt led by Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaf, apparently without decisive effect.

A war of words raged between radio Mosul and radio Baghdad. The smokescreen of propaganda veiled military movements, but showed bitterly the antagonisms between leftist followers of Kassem and military men who lean toward U. A. R. President Nasser's brand of Arab nationalism.

Simmering unrest had broken into open rebellion less than eight months after Kassem led the bloody coup that killed King Faisal and destroyed his pro-Western monarchy July 14, 1958.

Conflicting claims and counter-claims alternated as the day advanced.

Radio Baghdad declared a one-time Shawaf was fleeing toward the Syrian border and offered $28,000 for him, dead or alive.

Later it reported he had been killed by his own men. This purported news, obviously aimed to dismay Shawaf's followers, was accompanied by the reading of hundreds of messages pledging allegiance to Kassem.

Shawaf himself spoke over radio Mosul to deny he was either fleeing or dead. He taunted the government in a voice strained and at times almost hysterical.

"We will keep fighting to the end, until we wipe out the corrupt regime and victory will be ours," he pledged.

He told the people not to be misled by radio Baghdad's production of pro-Kassem messages and brushed off the air raid on Mosul.

"The government felt that the end is near," the colonel said. "That is why he tried, as a last measure, to bomb Mosul with the few planes whose pilots are still loyal to the government. All this proves that the government is dying and using its last weapon."

There were varying reports on affairs within Baghdad. A report to Beirut said there were disturbances in Baghdad streets Sunday in connection with a big pro-Nasser demonstration. On the other hand, a traveler reaching Cairo from Baghdad said there had been pro-Communist and pro-Kassem demonstrations. He said the situation was very tense.

Egypt's Middle East News Agency announced that the Iraqi military governor general, Brig. Ahmed Saleh Elabdi, had issued an order closing its offices.

Two Drives Into Nearby Parks Are Enjoyed by Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles spent a pleasant weekend, leaving his hospital suite twice for rides through a nearby park. He also visited his home briefly and later discussed the Berlin situation with two aides.

The first trip Saturday afternoon lasted about 30 minutes. In bright sunshine, he rode through Rock Creek Park with Mrs. Dulles. Aides reported he thoroughly enjoyed the outing, his first since he entered Walter Reed Army Hospital Feb. 10 for a hernia operation.

The ride was made a few hours after he resumed X-ray treatments for cancer. The treatments had been suspended since he received an injection of radioactive gold last Tuesday.

Sunday Dulles and his wife posed briefly for photographers before entering their limousine for another afternoon drive. The secretary was smiling but somewhat thinner than before he entered the hospital. He told newsmen he feels "pretty good."

Wagner said he was receptive to Gov. Lawrence's economy proposal to discontinue state subsidies beyond the 1959-60 school year for school districts that already have received $1,000 under the closed school program.

Spectacular Fires in the State Take Lives of Two

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fires in a half dozen Pennsylvania communities took two lives over the weekend and destroyed property valued at more than $400,000.

The most spectacular blaze occurred early Sunday at Reading in a four-story brick warehouse in the heart of the business section. The structure housed the warehouse of M. J. Earl, Inc., a wholesale paper, paint and decorating firm, and two floors of a retail store which sold toys, sporting goods, novelties and candy.

The store, owned by Elwood Kurtz, lost all its stock, valued at $36,000.

Fire Chief Russell Bowers set the damage estimate for building and stock at $275,000 to $300,000. Fire gutted a two-family dwelling in Exeter Borough near Pittston early Sunday taking the life of a 63-year-old woman and injuring an elderly woman who was visiting her.

A fire in West Chester early Sunday caused the death of Daniel J. Keefer, 56. His wife, Alice, 55, was hospitalized for treatment of smoke inhalation. Two passing policemen smashed a window in an effort to reach Keefer but were driven back by the intense heat.

Another Sunday blaze destroyed a grain elevator near Chambersburg with losses estimated at $75,000. Sixteen firemen were injured battling the blaze at the East Fayetteville Elevator Co.

Defective wiring was blamed for a fire that caused an estimated $40,000 damage and drove 25 persons from an apartment house on Pittsburgh's North Side Saturday.

Sheffield Man Enters Race for County Sheriff

Sanford H. "Sandy" Secor, well known resident of Sheffield since 1906, has announced he is a candidate for nomination for sheriff of Warren county subject to the decision of Republican voters at the Primary Election May 19th of this year.

Mr. Secor made the decision after considerable deliberation during which he says he has received much encouragement from friends throughout the county. He was born in Nebraska, Pennsylvania, December 28, 1906, but has resided in Sheffield since he was nine years old, attending the public schools there after which he was enrolled at Pennsylvania State until he was compelled to quit college due to illness of his father. He was employed at the O. M. Beer Co. and Sheffield Furniture Co., until accepting the appointment as Chief Deputy Sheriff in January, 1944, serving in that capacity until January, 1956. He has been a member of the Sheffield Fire Department since 1924.

As a law enforcement officer Mr. Secor completed the Basic Police Procedure, Advanced Police Procedure, Technical Police Procedure, Refresher Course, under direction of the Public Service Institute, Department of Public Instruction, as well as three short courses of instruction by the F.B.I. He acted as Coordinator of the Governor's Emergency Disaster Committee until the appointment of W. C. Fuellhart as director of Civilian Defense, when he resigned to accept the job of Deputy Director. He has had active charge of organizing and training of Auxiliary Police, which now numbers approximately 430, including a Mounted Division of 18 men, Jeep Division of 12, Motorcycle Division of five, all owning their own equipment.

After leaving the office of chief deputy sheriff Mr. Secor was employed as an Insurance Adjuster for some time, and is presently a representative of the Collins Pine Co.

In announcing as a candidate, Mr. Secor stated "Due to experience as police officer, Deputy Sheriff and instructor in police procedure, I feel qualified to handle the office of Sheriff. I have never held an elective office and have been urged by a host of friends to run. If elected I will give the people of Warren county the best service possible with the facilities available. Regardless of the outcome of the campaign I will continue to take an active part in organization of Civil Defense units, and other activities for the benefit of the town and county in which I have lived for almost 45 years."

SHEFFIELD

SHEFFIELD — Mrs. E. R. Firemen Answer Numerous Calls Over Weekend

Warren borough firemen kept busy over the weekend with a call Friday from the local airport where high winds had removed the roof of the hangar building. No fire resulted but gas and electricity were shut off.

Shortly after 10:00 p. m. Saturday, an overheated chimney in the home of Charles Wetmore, 2032 Pennsylvania avenue, east, flamed and burned an entire partition in the rear of the house. Damage was estimated at $1500 with firemen called back early Sunday morning where a small smoldering flared up but caused no additional trouble.

Sunday afternoon found the fire department joining with borough police and rushing the pneumatic to Penn avenue bridge where Alfred Hedstrand, 5 Cherry street, had collapsed with heart seizure. The victim was dead upon arrival at Warren General Hospital.

Also on Sunday, fire broke out at the Paul Zock residence, 17 Swiss street with $500 damage resulting to a bedstead and bedding.

This morning the pneumatic was sent to the aid of Mike Louchs, 310 Pennsylvania avenue, west. The patient was removed to Warren General Hospital by North Warren ambulance. Local firefighters also went out this a. m. to rescue a 1949 Dodge, owned by Martho Fossell, 1114 Penn avenue, west, when defective wiring caused mild trouble.

Movie Producer Becomes Miffed At Introduction

By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Producer Samuel Goldwyn last week got miffed at an introduction which touched on his famous Goldwynisms and scolded Britisher Peter Ustinov.

Ustinov, one of the masters of ceremonies at the annual Golden Globe Awards dinner of the Hollywood Foreign Press Assn., called upon Goldwyn to present one of the awards.

"Mr. Goldwyn," said Ustinov, "has enriched the silver screen as much as he has enriched the English language."

Goldwyn, always sensitive about the many malapropos attributed to him, responded, "I would like to come see you some time. Should I bring a dictionary? I've got a lot to learn, I know, but so do you, too."

At the end of his speech, Goldwyn cooled and shook Ustinov's hand. The Coconut Grove audience included almost every big name in the movies.

Two stars — both past the 70 mark — stole the show. Maurice Chevalier and Sophie Tucker gave out with a rock 'n' roll duet on "Some of These Days" that brought down the house.

Top popularity awards went to Rock Hudson and Deborah Kerr, who were voted current film favorites of the world. Miss Kerr, presently in Switzerland, cabled her thanks.

In the best acting categories were Susan Hayward, David Niven, Rosalind Russell, Dan Aykroyd, Burl Ives and Hermoine Gingold. Television performers honored were Ann Sothern, Loretta Young, Red Skelton, William Orr, Ed Sullivan and newsman Paul Coates.

OBITUARIES

FUNERAL INFORMATION WILL BE FOUND UNDER ANOTHER HEADING

A. N. HEDSTRAND

Alfred Nathaniel Hedstrand, 62 year old resident of 5 Cherry street, collapsed and died while on his way to a market near his home about 1:30 p. m. Sunday.

He was crossing the Pennsylvania avenue bridge over the Conewango Creek when he was stricken and was pronounced dead on arrival at Warren General Hospital. Coroner Ed C. Lowrey learned in his investigation the man had been under treatment for a heart condition for some time and stated his certificate of death will list a coronary occlusion as the cause.

Mr. Hedstrand was born at Dagus Mines, Pa., on January 25, 1897, and lived in Youngsville and Jamestown before coming to this area 20 years ago. He had been an employee of Phenix Furniture Company for many years.

Besides his wife, Cora, he leaves the following children: Miss Helen Hedstrand, Youngsville; Walter, in Bell, Calif.; Allen, Norwalk, Calif.; Miss Louise and Miss Betty, at home; two brothers and a sister, J. Edwin, of Jamestown; Harry Selin, of Sedro-Wolley, Wash., and Mrs. Mildred Hennung, Youngsville; also six grandchildren.

A daughter, Mrs. Alice Larson, preceded him in death. The Rev. Paul Peterson, of Bethlehem Covenant church, will conduct funeral services at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday, with interment following in Oakland cemetery.

CHARLES S. HUDSON

Services in memory of Charles Spencer Hudson, 615 1/2 Water street, were conducted at 2:00 p. m. Saturday by the Rev. Donald H. Spencer, of First Presbyterian church. Serving as bearers for interment in Oakland cemetery were the following nephews: Kenneth, Leo and Donald Whaley, Donald, Elwood and George Stroupe.

Attending from away were Mrs. Lulu Whaley, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Whaley, Corry; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Whaley, Charleroi; Mr. and Mrs. L. Glade Stroupe, Clarion; Mrs. Dorothy Hosack, Meadville; Mrs. Ray Walz, Oil City; Richard Betz, Franklin; Donald Stroupe, Lewistown; Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Hoff, Buffalo, N. Y.

Charles Spencer Hudson was born at Clymer, N. Y., and died in Warren March 5, 1959. Surviving are his wife, Ethel; two sons, Charles S. Hudson Jr., and Howard S. Hudson, Warren; one sister, Mrs. Charles Whaley, Corry; also 10 grandchildren. He was preceded in death by a brother, Clyde M. Hudson, on February 15, 1959.

Mr. Hudson served overseas with the U. S. Army Medical Corps in World War I, seeing action in many major battles, including that of the famed Argonne Forest.

Prior to his retirement in 1950, he was for more than 20 years chief supervisor at Warren State Hospital, where he entered service in 1913. A graduate of the School of Nursing of that institution, he was an instructor on the school staff.

Since his retirement, he has devoted himself to intensive historical and genealogical research throughout this region. His records being among the most valuable in the archives of Warren County Historical Society. Many of Mr. Hudson's articles on local history have appeared in the Warren Times-Mirror and other regional newspapers, and in the Historical Society's quarterly journal, "Seppings Stones."

An outdoors enthusiast, Mr. Hudson was an ardent hunter and fisherman; for many years one of the top ranking archers in the tri-state region. Several years ago, he was awarded permanent possession of the President's Cup of the Border Archers' Club, after winning top honors for the third successive year. He was not only an accomplished archer, but was skillful in fashioning his own equipment for the sport, including bows, arrows and other accessories.

ROTARY RECEIVES DSA

Warren Rotary Club members, along with others in units all across the county, have received with genuine pride announcement that the Institute of International Education has conferred upon Rotary International its Distinguished Service Award "in recognition of its outstanding contribution to the development of international understanding through creative and practical support of educational exchange programs."

Given at the Institute's 1959 conference in Washington, D. C. the presentation was made by Vice President Richard M. Nixon and accepted by Rotary's president, Clifford A. Randall.

The award citation commended Rotary International for the Rotary Foundation Fellowships granted to 1,202 outstanding graduate students from 67 countries for study in 44 countries. Individual Rotary clubs and districts also were commended for the international exchange of more than 10,000 young men and women each year on the secondary, university, and graduate level for formal educational training, international camps, tours, and conferences.

In connection with announcement of this national recognition, it is interesting to note that one of the Fellowship recipients referred to above will be in Warren Monday evening, March 16, as speaker for an inter-city gathering. She is Miss Barbara Weaver, of Titusville.

PENNSYLVANIA NURSE WEEK

Governor David Lawrence has proclaimed the period May 10 to 16 Pennsylvania Nurse Week. "The nurse is a vitally important figure in our public and personal health picture, and... it is fitting that we should pay special tribute to the work of Pennsylvania's nurses, and of the nurses throughout our nation for their skill and dedication," Lawrence says.

WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, temporarily frustrated in his desire for a summit conference, is forcing the Western Allies into a kind of summit meeting of their own.

In the end, by sheer boldness, he may get the meeting he wants.

Khrushchev has made it plain he considers foreign ministers a bunch of errand boys who fiddle around, split hairs and waste time on problems which only the top men can solve anyway.

That's why he first balked at a foreign ministers meeting to discuss the crisis he himself created: his demand the Western Allies get their troops out of West Berlin by May 27.

By sheer necessity—because the crisis is so major—the West's top men have had to move up front to handle it, leaving their foreign ministers in the shadows.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French President Charles de Gaulle have already met to discuss plans, map positions. British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan goes to visit them this week. Then he comes here to see President Eisenhower.

The fact that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has been in the shadows is a physical accident. He has been hospitalized with cancer.

Still, in this particular situation,

Eisenhower would have had to assume the up-front role since any final decision, which might mean shooting or its avoidance, would have to be his.

Dulles' illness put the whole foreign policy load on Eisenhower. Dulles carried a big part of that load when he was well. His Tuesday news conferences were an instrument for outlining broad American foreign policy.

Dulles could field the detailed questions thrown at him, thus making it easier for the President at his Wednesday news conference. Eisenhower couldn't have the detailed knowledge possessed by Dulles, the specialist.

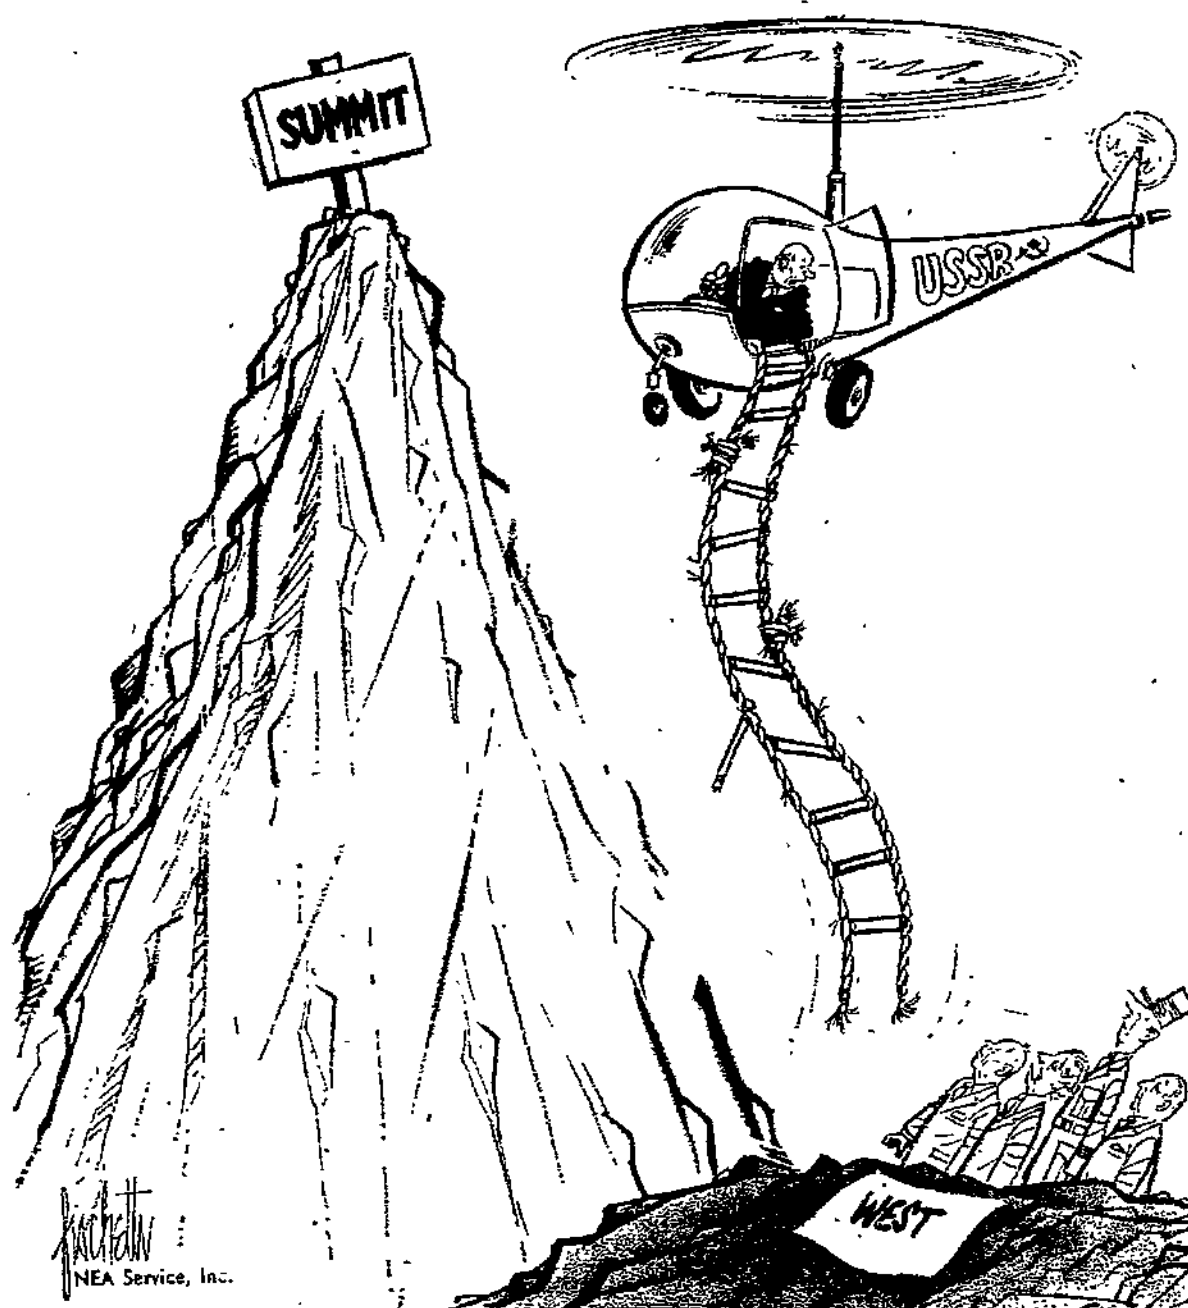

But the British foreign secretary Selwyn Lloyd, has almost disappeared from view under the commotion stirred up by Khrushchev. He may be handling details for Britain, but Macmillan is doing the talking.

Yet the four Western Allies want a foreign ministers meeting to discuss Berlin and Germany. After saying what he thought of foreign ministers, Khrushchev agreed to their meeting, but grudgingly.

He made it plain he didn't think much good could come of it and in the end the top men would have to get together if there was going to be any solution at all.

If the foreign ministers meet, and most likely they will, and if they stall too long to suit Khrushchev, he can shut them off and come close to forcing a summit meeting by starting to push for a Berlin showdown in a hurry.

Here and There

This is the time of the month when we have an opportunity to study typography and make-up of other newspapers on The Associated Press loop across the state from Pittsburgh to New Jersey. At the Clearfield 1958 Managing Editors' Conference a suggestion was proposed that editors on the circuit exchange copies of their newspapers on a certain day, to be used in news rooms for studies. The first of such exchanges—on October 2, 1958—was quite successful, we are told. Each editor received the edition of that date from 20 newspapers served on the circuit and we are sure everyone found them useful in studies and comparisons. Tuesday, March 3, was the date for a similar exchange, and as a result, we have in the editorial rooms at present copies of the following papers: News-Tribune, Beaver Falls; Public Opinion, Chambersburg; Clearfield Progress, Clearfield; Corry Journal, Corry; Ellwood City Ledger, Ellwood City; Record-Argus, Gettysburg; Gazette, Indiana; North Penn Reporter, Lansdale; The Express, Lock Haven; Daily Republican, Phoenixville; Evening Times, Sayre; Daily Item, Sunbury; Evening Standard, Uniontown; Record Herald, Waynesboro; Butler Eagle, Butler; Chester Times, Chester; Coatesville Record, Coatesville; Courier-Express, DuBois; Gettysburg Times, Gettysburg; Evening Sun, Hanover; Republican, Kane; Evening Record, Lansford; Sentinel, Lawistown; Mount Carmel Item, Mount Carmel; Daily Press, St. Marys; Daily Times, State College; Valley Daily News, Tarentum; and Sun-Gazette, Williamsport.

An Associated Press dispatch from Harrisburg Gov. David L. Lawrence has proclaimed March 12-22 as Want Ad Week in Pennsylvania. The state's observance is in conjunction with the annual National Want Ad Week, sponsored by the Association of Newspaper Classified Advertising Managers. Governor Lawrence presented his proclamation to Robert B. Zambria, state chairman of Want Ad Week, and classified advertising manager of the Tarentum Valley Daily News. The proclamation noted that "the earliest form of advertising relative to our great American press in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania was found in the American Weekly Mercury of Philadelphia in 1719. 'This medium of small, concise bartering of neighborly goods has grown with our Keystone prosperity. They are of great service to our nearly eleven million populace from the pages of 125 daily and 285 weekly and semi-weekly newspapers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania for buying, selling, trading, renting.' National Want Ad Week chairman is Paul C. Schulz, classified advertising manager of the Indianapolis, Ind., Star and News.

It is our pleasure again to have an opportunity to help in the promotion of annual Girl Scout Week, Sunday, March 8, through Saturday, March 14. The purpose of the observance is to celebrate the 47th anniversary of the founding of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A., and the theme this year is "You Can Count on Her to be Creative!"—in the arts, in homemaking and in giving to the community. Girl Scouts is a nation-wide organization for girls from seven through 17 years of age, with a total membership at present of 3,295,000, broken down we are told there are 2,580,000 girls, and 765,000 men and women contributing their time, effort and talent for the organization. There is a special branch, called TOFS (Troops on Foreign Soil) for daughters of American families living overseas. At the present time there are 32,673 Girl Scouts in TOFS throughout the free world. Girl Scout activities are geared for three age groups. Girls from seven through nine are Brownies; from ten through 13, Intermediate Scouts; from 14 through 17, Senior Scouts. Each group has its own uniform, its own activities and own projects. More than half of all Girl Scouts are Brownie Scouts, seven through nine. Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. is one of 44 members of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts, and it is interesting to note that one of every seven girls in the United States is a Girl Scout. The Warren-Forest Council boasts a membership of approximately 1,875 and 600 adults.

NEW YORK (AP) — Tightening credit when demand for it is fairly slack would seem at first glance to pack a faint punch. But the act could be a sleeper, affecting almost everyone in time.

The financial fraternity is busy today trying to assess the long-range effects of making interest rates higher and credit scarcer at this stage of the business recovery.

Deeper money hits anyone who must borrow or might want to borrow. It tends to weaken the price of existing corporate and government bonds that pay lower interest than the new going rate.

But the long term effect on business in general is debatable. Reactions to the raising of interest rates by some Federal Reserve banks run all the way from a shrug—the rates were merely being brought into line with other rates that already had risen higher than the fed's—to fear that this new warning against stock market exuberance and the gathering forces of inflation might squelch the business recovery born of new confidence and prepare the way for another recession.

The truth may be somewhere in the middle. Federal Reserve Board officials have made no secret of their fear that creeping inflation might get onto its feet and start running. President Eisenhower is trying to

How to Keep Well

BETTER OUTLOOK IN ARTHRITIS

The outlook for rheumatoid arthritis has improved considerably during the last 10 years. Much can be done to relieve pain and prevent crippling through the use of the adrenocorticosteroids, gold, physical therapy, or the antimalarial drugs such as Plaquenil and Aralen.

Many arthritics seem to be cured under such treatment but it is difficult to say whether this is true or false. The drugs hold symptoms in abeyance and recurrences often follow their discontinuance. Since the course of the disease cannot be predicted with precision, most authorities recommend continued treatment over months or years, even though the sufferer has improved.

The change in outlook took place 10 years ago when cortisone and hydrocortisone were discovered. The results were dramatic; symptoms were relieved and the disease was brought under control for long periods in more than half of the patients treated. Objectionable side reactions limited the use of the hormones but improved products have helped overcome this handicap.

Numerous synthetic substitutes for the original cortisone and hydrocortisone are available. They are many times more effective in suppressing the manifestations of rheumatoid arthritis when administered in small doses. Side reactions are less pronounced.

The cause of rheumatoid arthritis is not known but it has all the earmarks of a generalized disease. Inflammated joints are the outward manifestations. In addition, the afflicted person is tired and loses appetite and weight long before the fingers, wrists, ankles, and knees become painful.

In the plan of treatment, general health must be given as much consideration as the sore joints. This means adequate nutrition and the avoidance of respiratory infections, emotional disturbances, and fatigue. These basic therapies are essential even though they appear insignificant compared with our powerful new remedies.

Not if the heart is normal. Stair climbing is good exercise, and in time you will be able to do it without puffing. It has drawbacks in that, some friends may not be able to visit you. In addition, should you or your husband become ill, you may have to move.

SCALP LUMP:
J. H. writes: Recently a soft bump appeared on my scalp and it has become bald. Is there anything I can do about it?

REPLY:
Yes. Find out whether the lesion is a cyst or swelling due to inflammation. Local baldness may stem from the latter and treatment will solve your problem.

REPLY:
Because a relationship may exist between high blood pressure and the kidneys.

REPLY:
Any harmful effects that might follow the use of these products would be on the brain or nervous system rather than the heart.

There's a Real Bomb Aboard In Unemployment Situation

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Eisenhower administration is counting on a spring and summer boom to reduce unemployment. "My guess is that a lot of surprises are in store," says Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

"If the U.S. economy increases at the same rates of recovery experienced after the recessions of 1948-49 and 1953-54, it is far from unreasonable to project that unemployment will drop to three million," he declares.

Unemployment was just under three million in the boom years 1955-56-57. It averaged 4.6 million in 1958. It was 4.7 million in January, 1959—250,000 above January 1958.

February, 1959, unemployment figures will be released March 10. Unemployment normally increases in January, February and March. It drops in April as farm labor picks up.

If that happens again this year and unemployment does drop below three million during the summer and fall, the Eisenhower administration is saved a lot of money and embarrassment. If it doesn't happen, the administration is in for a peck of trouble.

IN CONGRESS, THE PRESSURE is already on to renew last year's unemployment insurance extended benefits, now due to expire March 31. If they end, 350,000 unemployed will lose their payments. There's also pressure to impose new, higher federal standards for state unemployment insurance.

The drive is on again to increase minimum wage payments from $1 to $1.25 an hour. The administration hasn't made up its mind what to recommend on this.

Mayors of cities where there is still large scale unemployment—like the Michigan automobile centers, textile towns in New England and hard coal areas in Pennsylvania—want Congress to pass a 390-million-dollar aid program.

The A.F.L.-C.I.O. Executive Council also announces it will go after the 35-hour week—presumably with no reduction in pay—to spread work among the unemployed.

THE OTHER HALF of the package is that unions will seek sizeable wage increases in their new contracts.

The paradox in this situation is that they're counting on a widespread pickup in production, productivity and profit margins to justify demands for higher pay. That is, they're talking greater unemployment and greater prosperity at the same time.

There are nearly 150 major union contracts covering over four million workers up for renegotiation in 1959. Biggest is the steel wage contract expiring June 30.

EFFECTS OF AUTOMATION on employment and unemployment are the source of another conflict between labor and government economists. Labor people blame much of the unemployment on automation, which they say destroys jobs.

Dr. Saulnier, on the other hand, says the sought-after five per cent annual increase in production can be achieved only by increased automation—not by just increasing the labor force.

In the past, he says, the three per cent annual growth has divided this way: one per cent from increase in the labor force and two per cent from increased productivity.

It is conceded by both sides that the labor force is going to increase steadily during the next six years. The labor force is growing faster than new jobs are being created. This is considered the "real cause of today's high unemployment."

Daily Lenten Meditations

From the Upper Room

Read II Corinthians 9:5-15.
By their fruits ye shall know them. (Matthews 7:20).
There is a coal miner who works among men who are rough in their language. He goes on with his daily toil so different in attitude and language from those around him.

One day one man said to another, "I say, old John is pretty different from the rest of us. It isn't what he says; it is how he behaves. I never heard him use the language we use."

"He's a lay preacher, didn't you know?"
"I didn't, but thought perhaps he was a church-goer."

Through his deeds this man preaches to those working with him. He uses the mine as a pulpit. He is proclaiming his religion through his daily work. He is one of the people to whom the words of Jesus can well refer: "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Deeds are the X-rays which enable others to discern our inner life. What we are within is revealed through what we are without.

PRAYER

Eternal Father, we would, by Thy grace, be the sort of people Thou dost want us to be. We would be men and women who witness to our faith in Thy Son by the things we do. Help us this day to express our faith in deeds that reflect Thy love. Through Christ our Lord. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Today I would show my faith through my deeds.

Hugh Thompson Closes Concert Season Locally

Concluding the Jaycee Concert Series for the 1954-55 season, Hugh Thompson, Metropolitan Opera baritone, appeared before a sparse audience in Beaty Junior High School Saturday evening in what may be described as a varied program, which pleased the audience and brought calls for three encores.

Mr. Thompson is a baritone of steady and refined qualities, the kind of voice you instinctively like: masculine, rich, and with a good middle tonal register.

Accompanied by Roy Hindman at the piano, the artist exemplified his many talents in a program that ranged from a group of British airs, negro spirituals, French and German lieder songs, to popular favorites. He was vocally and dramatically effective singing the ever-beautiful Vincent Youmans "Without a Song," from Carmen Jones; and Brother Will, Brother John, from Sacco, presented as encores.

Mr. Thompson's diction was exemplary, his voice sonorous, and his musical phrasing most pleasing. Truly a very popular young artist, much in demand, he was one local concert-goer applauded for outstanding musicianship.

The appearance of baritone Thompson rounded out this season's roster of artists presented under the sponsorship of the Junior Chamber of Commerce music committee, whose members wish to express their gratitude to all those enjoying season memberships and the Saturday night "bonus" attraction.

Ludlow Mission Church Observes 62nd Anniversary

LUDLOW — First Mission Covenant church observed its 62nd anniversary Thursday evening, with members and friends of Ludlow and 23 friends from Kane Emmanuel church present to help celebrate this historic milestone. Presently without a parish pastor, Rev. Paul Carlson, of the Kane church, conducts services.

The Ludlow church was organized in 1897 with the assistance of Rev. A. W. Kranklin, an area Mission pastor. Mr. and Mrs. August Olson, of Ludlow, are the only living charter members. Mr. Olson was present at this special meeting, as he is at all services, a very active member and a wonderful Christian witness to all who know him.

This event not only commemorated the anniversary, but celebrated a completely redecorated church parlor on the lower floor, which was accomplished by volunteer labor and unsolicited contributions. Mrs. William Beckwith welcomed the guests, and led the opening song, as chairman of the Ladies' Aid.

Mrs. Walter Anderson, of Johnsonburg, former missionary to the Eskimos of Alaska, was principal speaker, and was introduced by Mrs. Paul Carlson, of Kane. Mrs. Anderson gave an inspirational resume of the Alaskan field and showed beautiful film slides as well.

Devotionals were given by Mrs. Carlson. Two violin solos were presented by Mrs. Clarence Hanson, of Kane, accompanied by Irene Johnson, the latter also leading in prayer.

Coffee was served at the beautifully appointed table in the late evening, and a social hour enjoyed by the 65 in attendance.

Former Warren Man Named to Important Post

JOE CANNON

Word has been received that Joe Cannon, former well known Warren resident, has been elected president and general manager of A. Moe and Company, of Philadelphia. The election took place effective March first. This is an old established firm engaged in ship repairs and has docks and repair facilities on the Delaware river for ocean going craft.

Joe is well known in Warren and graduated with the local high school class of 1941; graduated from Pennsylvania State University class of 1943 as a Chemical Engineer.

There he was active with the "Blue Band", chemical fraternity and was honored by "Lions Paw".

Busied with experience in blast furnace operation then a season as a fireman on a Great Lakes freighter next was an enlistment in the U. S. Navy with the Atlantic fleet. For the past ten years he was identified with Sylvania, lately as field sales manager of chemicals, tungsten and rare metals covering the entire United States and Canada.

His wife and three daughters expect to move soon with him from their present home at Towanda to the new position in Philadelphia.

Joe is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cannon, 24 Crescent Park, Warren.

Taxable Income Not Accounted In Withholdings

Taxable income not accounted for on withholding tax Forms W-2 should be reported and included in 1958 Federal income tax returns, John H. Binger, District Director of Internal Revenue for the Pittsburgh District, cautioned today.

This income, he said, may come from part-time work, dividends, tips or similar gratuities, interest on savings accounts, and various other sources.

Profits on sales of real or personal property are subject to special tax reporting rules, he said.

Most taxpayers can obtain all the information they need relating to taxable income items by carefully reading the instruction booklet which was mailed with their income tax returns. More detailed information concerning taxable and deductible items may be found in the booklets "Your Federal Income Tax" or "Tax Guide for Small Business" which are available for thirty-five cents at Internal Revenue Offices in Pittsburgh, Beaver Falls, Erie, Johnstown, McKeesport, New Kensington, Washington and Wilkensburg.

Answers to questions concerning the taxability of income, or the answers to any other questions pertaining to your 1958 Federal income tax return can be secured by telephone from your nearest Internal Revenue Service Office. In Pittsburgh, the telephone number is Grant 1-0800. Simply ask for "Tax Information".

Planning Commission In Special Session

The Warren County Planning Commission held a special meeting last week, attended by supervisors and planning officials from Glade, Conewango, Pine Grove and Farmington Townships and Youngsville Borough, at which the objectives and aims of the Planning Commission were made known to these officials. Members of the County Commission gave short talks on the topics with which they were familiar, under the chairmanship of James Kannan, Chairman of the Commission. Burgett—Land Values and Farming; Israel—Health Problems; Wilder—Manufacturing; DeFrees—Warren Zoning experience; Johnson—Transportation; Swanson—Legal Problems of Planning.

The assembled officials expressed their interest that the County Commission should get on with its work as soon as possible, in view of the many problems confronting each of them.

QUICKSILVER — He's as hard to corner as quicksilver is to hold as state police in Pennsylvania, Ohio and New York and FBI agents are finding out. Frank Lawrence Sprentz, wanted for a $30,000 bank robbery in Hamilton, Ohio last Monday, has successfully dodged the police net extending throughout the tri-state area. Stealing planes, cars and even purchasing used cars, Sprentz has managed to be seen, allegedly, in Wellsville, N. Y.; Altoona, motels throughout Ohio, and used car lots in Ohio and this Commonwealth. On FBI's 10-most-wanted-men list, Sprentz was described by his wife, who's suing him for divorce and custody of their only child, as being a model father and husband—at times. The 29-year-old bandit is suspected of an Erie bank holdup last summer, also. — Picture courtesy State Police, Warren substation.

New Car Dealers Urge Trade-in Exemption

Pennsylvania car and truck buyers were warned today they will be faced with double or triple the state sales tax they now pay on both new and used vehicle purchases unless they join in an appeal to the Legislature against removal of the trade-in exemption from a 3½ percent sales tax proposal.

Speaking on behalf of the customers of the states 3,000 new car dealers, E. W. Parkinson, Harrisburg, assistant general manager of the Pennsylvania Automotive Association, said:

"The proposal now before the General Assembly would, if allowed to become law, not only burden the tax on motor vehicle sales, but would also hit car and truck buyers with double taxation."

Parkinson cited the following example to show the difference in taxes in the purchase of the same car under the present and the proposed sales tax.

Under the present 3 per cent sales levy, the tax on a new car selling for $3,000 on which $2,000 is allowed on the car being taken in trade, the tax applies only to the net difference of $1,000, or $30.

Under the proposed 3½ percent sales tax, on which no trade-in exemption would be allowed, the full price of $3,000 would be subject to the levy, boosting the tax to $105.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

We are not quite sure whether this marks a victory of culture over cleanliness, but a survey showed more American homes now have TV sets—42,400,000—than have bathtubs—41,500,000.

Rattlesnake meat is gaining favor as a cocktail tidbit. Connoisseurs say that if you just close your eyes, you can't tell the difference between it and chicken or frog legs.

Rural superstition: many old-time farmers would never set a hen on an even number of eggs for fear of bringing bad luck.

Does your husband shine his own shoes: Three out of four American men now do.

Quotable notables: "The couple's married," says singer Lisa Kirk, "if, at a drive-in movie, the guy complains about the sound being too low."

More men than women are up in the air. The United States has 791,282 licensed male pilots, 18,067 female pilots.

It is getting so you have to stand in line to see a doctor, and it looks as if you'll have to wait even longer in the future. A shortage of physicians is expected for at least a dozen years, even if they enlarge present medical schools.

If you have trouble getting the right sized shoes, you might follow the example of the old Mayan Indians. They made their own footwear by dipping their feet repeatedly into raw latex from the nearest rubber tree and always got a perfect fit.

Today's joke for the subteen-age set: what do you get when you cross breed a canary with an antelope? A cantelope! Warning: Don't tell this joke to any child over 12. He'll think you're hopelessly square.)

Queen Mother Elizabeth of Britain calls her pet spaniel "Mr. Rowley". There's a bit of royal history behind the name. It's the name King Charles II used when traveling incognito.

Government oddity: U.S. Senators always expect more mail on Mondays following a rainy weekend back home. Having nothing else to do, their constituents sit down and write to Congress.

A durable Indian, on foot, could pursue a wild horse and capture it after it became nervous and exhausted, but he could never do this to a buffalo. A buffalo could lope up to 200 miles in a single day.

Apt definition: "A chronic grumbler," says Grace Downs, "is one who, when opportunity knocks, complains about the noise."

Red China honored its grandmothers of the year for an odd feat. The old girl caught 10,000 wasels. Birds have wanderlust just like people. The one that travels the most is the arctic tern, which journeys up to 25,000 miles in its annual migrations.

Do you find it hard to stick on a diet because you have a "sweet tooth"? Well, this is one thing you can blame on your ancestors. Scientists believe a taste for sweets is probably inherited.

DIESEL SUFFERS DAMAGE IN TRAGIC ACCIDENT

The tragic Saturday morning accident that claimed the life of Mrs. Florence Hinkle, completely demolished the Jeep station wagon in which she was a passenger, and only slightly damaged the Diesel with which it collided. As can be seen in this Timesphoto by Saylor, damage to the train was confined to the footboard steps, cutlever and grabiron. See story and picture on page one.

FLOOD MENTIONED

Pictured in the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, official AAA publication, was a scene from the borough's most recent flood, showing the Warren County Motor Club in the midst of some of the disaster. Also shown is an AAA emergency road service call received during the emergency as a tow-truck draws a "swamped" car from high waters.

DIES ON BRIDGE

Warren borough police were called yesterday afternoon at 1:25 when a man's body was reported lying on the Pennsylvania avenue bridge and found Alfred N. Hedstrand, 63, 5 Cherry street, a heart patient, collapsed in that locale. Upon removal to Warren General Hospital by North Warren ambulance, Mr. Hedstrand was pronounced dead on arrival.

AMEY CHANCE

NATIONAL FOREST TIMBER FOR SALE

LOCATION AND AMOUNT: The entire contents of 1553 sawtimber and unnumbered pulpwood trees marked for cutting on an area of about 180 acres within the Allegheny National Forest on Jenkins Township, Forest County, Pennsylvania. The volumes stated below are not guaranteed but are final for this sale.

Species	Trees	Volume

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A game little guy named Lou Costello has been erased from the movie scene. He'll be missed.

Lou was a show business natural. Nobody could explain why he was so funny. He was no intellectual, no student of human foibles. His material had no subtlety nor polish. Indeed, much of it had been worked over and over by a generation of burlesque comics.

'But when Lou did the routines, they seemed funnier. For one thing, he had in Bud Abbott a straight man who had no superior. And the public seemed to recognize Lou for the natural he was — an abnormally funny man.

As far as can be judged, Lou Costello had no enemies. Even Bud Abbott, with whom he sometimes feuded, couldn't stay mad at him for long.

The reason was that Lou was completely outgoing. He was generous to a fault — which was all right when the money was flowing in, but brought him trouble later. He lacked complexity. When he worked, he worked hard. When he played, it was the same way.

Recently he recalled how hard he had worked in films: "I used to come home mentally and physically exhausted. Nobody knew it, but I was almost sick. All those pratfalls! They take a lot out of you. I'd go to the studio feeling tired the next morning."

Offstage, Lou played strenuously, too. In their heyday, he and Bud had a card game going at all times on their movie sets. They played for high stakes, and for keeps.

That was in the time when the money was flowing in fast. After they made "Buck Privates," they shot to the top of the movie popularity polls.

The big money continued for a dozen years. Once Lou told me he and Bud had earned 1% million dollars a year for over a decade, yet neither had been able to save a nest egg.

Over 90 per cent went to taxes, the rest to writers, agents, lawyers, etc. And Lou was always an easy touch for unlucky oldtimers.

When the jobs started getting more scarce, Lou made his toughest decision: a final split with Bud. A long series of illnesses had left him in poor health, but he couldn't afford to retire.

Last fall, he was proud that he broke the Las Vegas attendance record at the Dunes. He was as funny as ever, but strangely restrained. Few realized that Lou

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

NOTHING FINAL ABOUT IT—Some of the tombstones in this graveyard in Newark, N. J., date back to 1666, but they're about to be removed for a parking lot. The three-acre cemetery behind the First Presbyterian Church will hold from 500 to 600 cars. The church plans to disinter the 1,316 persons buried there and move them to a mass grave.

BRIEF ENCOUNTER—Judging by Pat Fisher's apparent timidity, she didn't stay long to beat that tom-tom for aid when she made the acquaintance of Indian Maiden, a race horse. Pat, as a pretty Indian maiden, too, was beating the drums at Hialeah Race Course in Florida, but hadn't expected anything so friendly as this gesture.

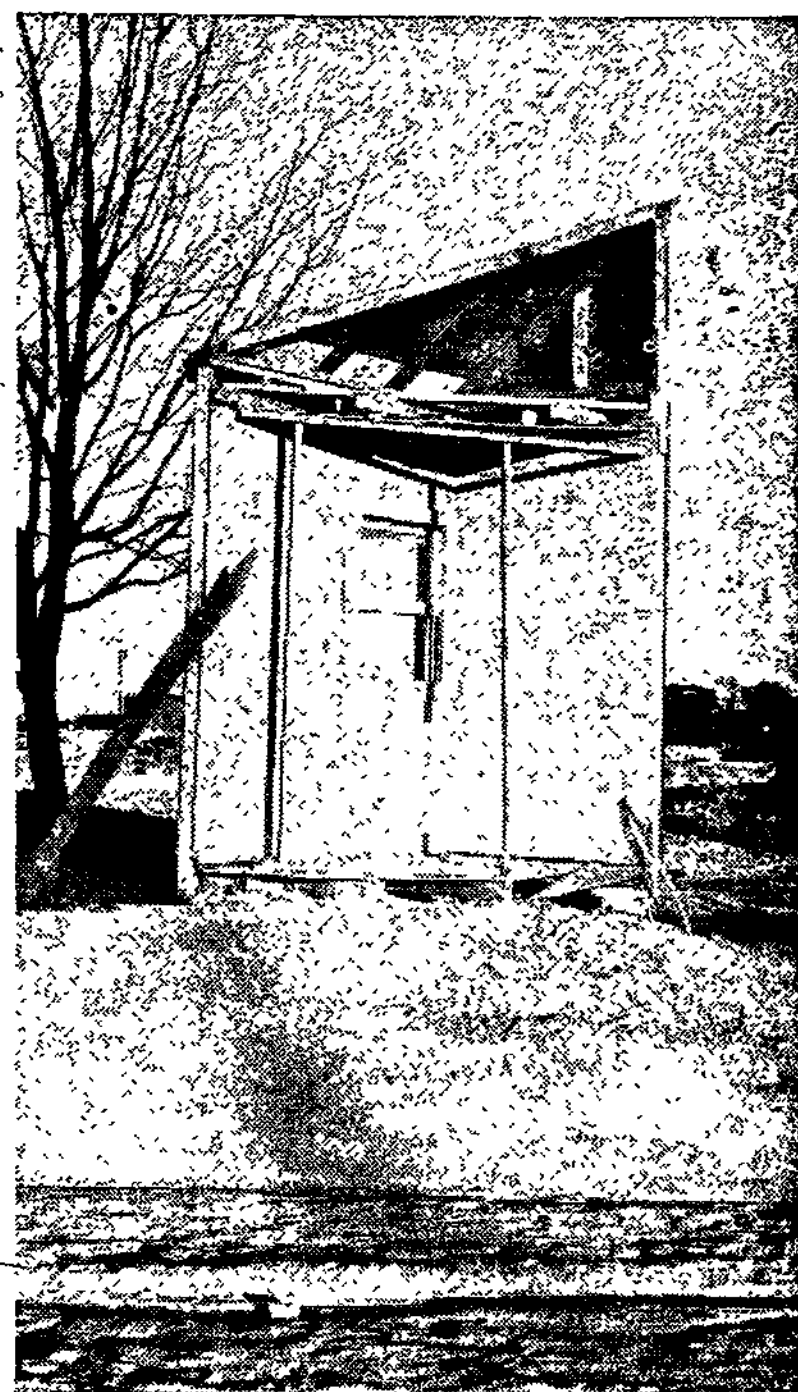

A SON'S TRIBUTE—A new red granite and white marble monument has been erected at the grave of Mrs. Gladys Presley, mother of rock 'n' roll king Elvis Presley, at a cemetery in Memphis, Tenn. The marker was commissioned by Presley and his father last fall before they left for Germany, where Elvis is stationed with the U. S. Army.

MOTHER KNOWS BEST—And why not, for in this case she's actress Anne Shirley (right), who's apparently giving some advice to her daughter, Julie Payne, in Hollywood. Julie, whose father is actor John Payne, was making a film for television in which she made her acting debut.

SAY, YOU! — After being parked in its owner's handbag at a dog show in Hartford, Conn., a be-ribboned Yorkshire Terrier indicates it's there against its will. That's no way to treat a pooch named Ch. Future of Fagham.

HARDLY ENOUGH—What looks like the start of a new house is actually all that remains of a cafe in Dallas, Tex., which was condemned for construction of a new highway. Under condemnation laws, only the part of the property situated on the right of way can be removed. Demolition crews hacked off the part of the cafe that had to go, and left two forlorn parts of walls, and a bit of roof.

PILGRIMS ALL—Some of the 40,000 pilgrims in Lourdes, France, are shown before the famed basilica. They were on hand to attend closing ceremonies marking the 100th anniversary of the miracle of the appearance of the Virgin Mary before Bernadette Soubirous.

ON DISPLAY—French Premier Charles de Gaulle (center) got an unexpected treat when a champion stallion donkey was paraded for his inspection in Tarbes, France. De Gaulle was on hand to view the prize animals kept there at the National Stud Farm.

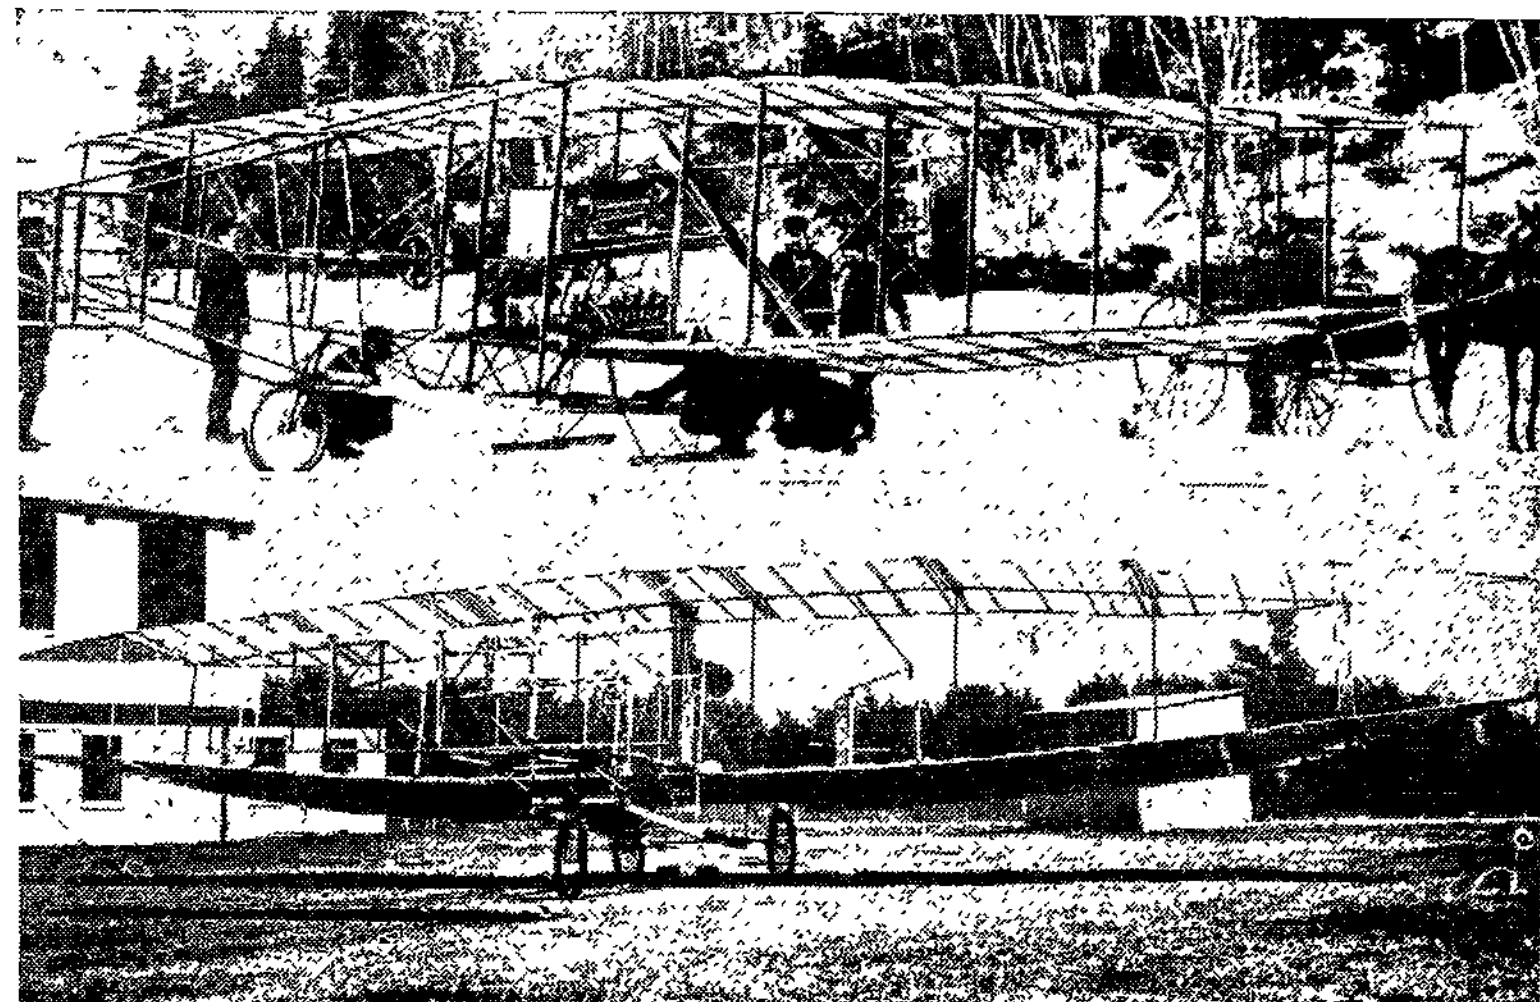

FLAME OF THE FUTURE—A giant, gas-fired Luau torch burns on Round Top, a hill overlooking Honolulu and Pearl Harbor, to symbolize Hawaii's hope of statehood. James C. Stopford (left) and Gregg Sinclair, President Emeritus of the University of Hawaii, are expressing the islanders' hopes for full citizenship. The plan is to keep the "feast" torch burning until the territory is admitted as our 50th state.

STRAIGHT—A gaily-striped tunic falls from the shoulder to thigh as Baldini of Milan shows this colorful beach fashion in Florence, Italy. The little silk-and-cotton dress, with brief pleated skirt, can be worn with any one of Baldini's line of high-crowned, be-ribboned straw hats.

FIFTY YEARS APART

THEN AND NOW—In the top photo, the "Silver Dart," the plane that made the first powered flight in the British Empire, is being readied for its historic maiden voyage near Braddeck, Nova Scotia, in 1909. Below is the "Silver Dart II," an almost exact replica of the history-making craft. The new one recently raced across frozen Bras D'Or Lake at the same place for a re-enactment of the original flight that took place 50 years ago.

Looks Like Clemente Will Go To Right Field

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Chances are that Roberto Clemente will be in right field after all for the Pittsburgh Pirates' National League opener.

The club received word Sunday that the 24-year-old Puerto Rican flyhawk was being released several weeks early by the Marine Corps and will report here on Wednesday. Clemente, who entered the Marines under the six-month training program, had not been expected to be ready in time for the opener.

Right-hander Bob Porterfield, at 34 the oldest man on the Pirate pitching staff, gave strong indication he will be around this season by hurling a perfect three innings in Pittsburgh's 2-1 conquest of Milwaukee Sunday at Bradenton.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL

Sports fans being what they are, there are some people who imagine that for six dark months a year television offers merely pictures of empty baseball parks. For such folk there is a lifting of the heart these days.

The article blasts still are sweeping around the fabled battlegrounds, Yankee stadium, Braves field, etc., but in the sunny spots the liniment is flowing, muscles are unkinking, the brash kids are trying to jar a few old birds loose from their perches and take over.

Shortly that most fascinating of all statistical tables, the box score, will reappear in the news pages and life once again will begin to take on a definitive look.

Labor and management will go on endlessly arguing wages and profits. Government will mire itself as always in debate and sheer blather. But in the ball park you'll get action—and a result.

Not a bad antidote for the uncertainties we live with in so many other realms.

The word floating back and forth between the Arizona Cactus and the Florida citrus is that the San Francisco Giants could win the National League pennant this year if...

If it is another right-handed pitcher. His name is Gene Conley and at the moment he is performing for the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn., and carrying on side feud with the Milwaukee Braves.

The Braves don't like the idea of their chattel playing basketball when he could be working out with the club, for which he didn't win a game last year.

He is trade bait, and the Giants have admitted they've reached the talking stage of a deal — the lanky right-hander. But so far the asking price has been too high.

A case in point happened Sunday when the Cleveland Indians licked the Giants, 3-2, in Phoenix, Ariz.

Paul Giel forced in the winning run in the eighth inning by walking pitcher John Briggs. Vic Power, who had opened the inning with a triple, scored and that was the ball game.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, another sleeper in the NL, scored their second victory over the champion Milwaukee Braves, a 2-1, decision at Bradenton, Fla. Bob Porterfield, Don Rowe and Laurin Pepper combined to hold the Braves to four hits. Both Pirate runs were unearned.

The world champion New York Yankees, held hitless for seven innings, outlasted the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, in 11 innings at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Elsewhere on the exhibition circuit, the Baltimore Orioles edged the Kansas City A's, 3-2, in 14 innings at Miami; the Washington Senators eked out an 8-7 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in 11 innings at Lakeland, Fla.; the Boston Red Sox won 12-8 from the Chicago Cubs at Scottsdale, Ariz.; the Los Angeles Dodgers nipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-3, at Clearwater, Fla., and the Chicago White Sox stopped the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3, at Tampa, Fla.

Gail Page Wins in District 10 Tourney; To Regional Saturday

Predicted by many to be a state contender, Warren's Gail Page seems to be well on the way for State laurels after surviving the tough District 10 competition in Erie Saturday.

Erie East's Dick Seelinger was decisively won by the Warren 120-pound grappler in Memorial Junior High in Erie as the regional meet in Altoona next Saturday.

Two other Dragons came through with winning colors in the Section II meet two weeks ago, but they lost their bid in a meet with Sec. III a week ago. They were: Jim Olson and Dean Lester. Max Claypool, 85 pounder, won his exhibition bout in the Section II-III meet.

Page and Seelinger met in Beatty gym during regular season this year, Page defeating the East grappler. Gail himself is undefeated through the season's mat wars. The veteran of many mat contests, Page had complete control through his title match Saturday.

A State title is all Page asks for in his last year as a scholastic wrestler. A senior, the outstanding vet will be a staggering loss to Hal Miller's squad next year. Many fine boys are returning, however, which points up to another fine season of wrestling for Miller and Warren High.

A win this coming Saturday and then victory at the State competition will be a most successful ending to a colorful wrestling career of Warren High's Gail Page.

Titusville's undefeated Jim DeMille (103) and Chuck Shaffer (145) remained with perfect states when they both pulled out wins Saturday. DeMille defeated Magoon of St. Vincent while Baldwin of the same Erie team was pinned by Shaffer.

Chuck Breene of Oil City lost by an overtime decision to Leone of Erie Tech. Greenville, stronghold of wrestling titles in the area, put five boys in the tourney, only two pulled through—much to the dissatisfaction of some Greenville fans.

In the 127-pound tussle, won by William of Greenville, Erie East's Oscar was winning, having a 5-3 edge on Williams in the third period. The East grappler worked himself into position for a fast pin by Williams. Another thriller was Sikes of Greenville losing to Polacci of Erie Tech. With eight seconds to go and Sikes in the lead, Polacci made good use of the time, decisioning the Erie man by one point.

Rhodes (Commodore Perry) and Vincent's Stewart, caused plenty of excitement, Rhodes winning by decision. Greenville fans, especially a few who were reported to be brothers of Jeffries, became quite excited when Dick Arrington of Erie decided Jeffries. An alleged mix-up in the scoring is reported to have been the trouble.

Title winners:
95 — Grady (Pymatuning) dec. Allison (Union City).
103 — DeMille (Titusville) dec. Magoon (Vincent).
112 — Wentling (Greenville) dec. Carr (East).
120 — Page (Parren) dec. Eeclinger (East).
127 — Williams (Greenville) pinned Oscar (East).
133 — Leone (Prep) dec. Breene (Oil City).
138 — Polacci (Tech) dec. Sikes (Greenville).
145 — Shaffer (Titusville) pinned Baldwin (Vincent).
154 — Rhodes (C. Perry) dec. St. John (Vincent).
165 — Lewis (Greenville) dec. Chandler (Vincent).
185 — Arrington (East) dec. Jeffries (Greenville).

North Warren Wins On Sheffield Court

An experienced North Warren Gra-Y cage squad, winners of several local games this season, downed a hosting Sheffield quintet 24-20 in Sheffield High School Saturday.

The second of their out-of-town competition, North Warren hoopers led going into second quarter 6-5 as Sheffield knotted it 9-all at the half. A one-point spread in third and two in the final stanza, iced the contest for North Warren.

Shooting under the coaching of "Sam" Loomis were: L. Loomis, F. Porter, J. Mintzer with 6 points apiece, A. Anderson had 4 and J. Rogers 2. Fitch blazed the way for Sheffield dialing 10 points, Bulzich and Elmquist each had 4 while Newark had 2.

Pro Selectors All Go for "Big O" on All-American

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

It might be in Charlotte, Evanston, Lawrence or even the Big City—any place where the many college basketball championship tournaments are in away. Close down by the court there'll be a man with pad and pencil, scribbling between dribbles.

Let's take a peek over his shoulder.

You'll read a pro basketball scout's report on the five outstanding college basketball players of the 1958-59 season. His observations, and those of the other talent bird-dogs of the National Basketball Association went into the compilation of the NEA Service and Times-Mirror All-America Basketball Team.

Here's what it says:

BOB BOOZER, Kansas State—a big 6-8. Tough on the boards, but maybe not in a class with Elgin Baylor. He can shoot outside. Big question is temperament. Can be a little moody. Coach Tex Winter puts him on a par with Baylor in everything but rebounding.

BAILEY HOWELL, Mississippi State—got everything. Might be a trifle short at 6-7 to handle the middle men but has the shots to play the corner. They say he's a little slow, but has enough speed to get by. An amazing scorer, with all the shots, from dunk to hook.

OSCAR ROBERTSON, Cincinnati—this guy has got to be the greatest. Nat's Connie Dierking, a playmate last year, says he can't miss being just as good in pros. He's 6-5 but might be better off in the backcourt as a pro. A team player, too, who passes off beautifully.

JERRY WEST, West Virginia—top backcourt prospect and big enough for job at 6-3. At this stage (he's a junior), he's a better bet for the NBA than Hot Rod Hundley was. A good driver and, unusual for a college kid, he plays a very hustling, effective defense.

ALAN SEIDEN, St. John's—size may be against him. He's 5-11. But he's a strong kid, a good passer, defends well and can pop the long ones from the outside. Worth a gamble if he can lick his habit of controlling the ball too much. Must learn to go without it.

To complete the ledger, the scouts have also listed an alternate All-America quintet that on performance and ability has almost as impressive credentials as the top five.

And this is the book on the second team:

Johnny Green, Michigan State—the jumping jack of college ranks, a tremendous leaper off the backboards. The only question is if he can acquire the outside shots to make an offensive threat.

John Richter, North Carolina State—terrific jump shot for a man who's 6-9 (tallest on the All-America squad). Moves gracefully. Not pro conscious because he's an outstanding engineering student.

Bob Ferry, St. Louis—extremely strong pivot man, and in the modern trend this 6-8 specimen can also shoot long. Back-board play is his forte. Biggest detriment for stardom is lack of speed afoot.

Johnny Cox, Kentucky—the senior weld for an otherwise sophomore team. He's an outstanding shooter and has the quick moves to create the openings. At 6-4, he'd have to become a playmaker, too.

Leo Byrd, Marshall—he'd make it on marksmanship. Hal Greer, who's shown a fine shot with Syracuse, claims his former 6-1 teammate is a greater threat from the floor. Slender physique is his drawback.

A year ago, these same reports listed Seattle's Elgin Baylor as the best bet to make it big with the pros. And the results have justified their judgment. They should hold up again.

Big Klu Never So Happy As He Is This Spring

PORT MYERS (AP)—Ted Kluszewski feels like pinching himself every time he swings a bat these days.

He hasn't been so happy since a pinched nerve robbed him of his home run sock two years ago and reduced him from one of the most feared batters in the National League to just another bench warmer.

"I feel like a new man," exulted the still awesome-looking 240-pound Pittsburgh Pirate first baseman. "The pain in my back is practically gone."

"The biggest thing is the way I'm swinging the bat. You can ask the boys. I haven't swung this way in two years. I mean really swing. I've hit balls out in batting practice this spring that I wasn't able to do since 1955-56. That indicates to me that I still have the power."

Big Klu's suffering started during the 1956 season. His home run output fell from 47 in 1955 to 35 but he still managed to drive in 102 runs and bat .302 for Cincinnati. The next year he was really in agony. Unable to bend at times, let alone swing a bat, Ted played in only 69 games in 1957, many of them in the role of pinch hitter. He managed to hit only 6 home runs, drove in 21 runs and bat .268.

Traded to Pittsburgh that winter, Kluszewski opened the season at first base. But the nerve began pinching again and by mid-season had lost the regular job to rookie Dick Stuart.

Basketball Star Dies In Fire in Louisiana

RUSTON, La. (AP)—Bobby James, the only junior selected on the 1959 All-Southwest Conference basketball team, died in a fire at his family home Sunday.

Funeral services for the 20-year-old outstanding Southern Methodist University athlete were to be held today, with six teammates as pallbearers.

James, one of the conference's top performers, died in the fire after an evening with his fiancée, Miss Sandra Woodward. A June wedding had been planned.

Williams Says This Could Be His Last Year

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Ted Williams has said this could be his last year in baseball if he fails to hit .300.

But if his appearance means anything, there's no need to get desperate about hiring a hall for a retirement banquet.

The great Boston outfielder, who has never hit worse than .317 in his major league career, checked in for spring training looking as though he had spent half the winter soaking in a fountain of youth.

He not only doesn't look 40 years old, but he apparently doesn't feel it, except maybe a little in the legs.

"I feel fine," he said between runs to the batting cage. "I had a bad ankle a year ago but it's not bothering me much now. I'm just a little stiff in the legs."

Pettit Eclipses Mikan as Greatest Among the Pros

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks has eclipsed the fabled George Mikan as the greatest scorer in professional basketball history.

Scoring 30 points Sunday as the Hawks lost to Minneapolis 120-104, Pettit brought his season's average to 29.3 a game. With one game left—even if he is blanked—Pettit is assured of breaking the 28.4 mark Mikan set in 1951.

Pettit already has broken George Yardley's one-season NBA scoring record of 2,001 points. The Hawk ace has amassed 2,078 for the 1958-59 campaign as the National Basketball Assn.'s premier point-maker.

Two other records were established Sunday as teams prepared for the playoffs beginning Friday.

The Boston Celtics, paced by Bill Sharman's 29 points, defeated the Cincinnati Royals 141-131 and rang up a season record of 52 triumphs. In the same game, Celtic Bill Russell snared 25 rebounds to give him a season's total of 1,588. He set the previous standard last year.

In other games, New York defeated Detroit 127-120 and Syracuse romped to a 133-103 victory over Philadelphia.

Saturday night, St. Louis outlasted Detroit 137-128 and Philadelphia beat Cincinnati 93-86.

Radio and TV

By CHARLES MERCER
AP Radio-Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Experts of the U.S. Information Agency's global radio network, "Voice of America," are studying tape recordings of CBS radio's "Galen Drake Show," believing it has possibilities for its vast English speaking audience around the world.

Because few Americans hear the Voice they are forever forgetting its functions in the battle for men's minds on the world's radio frequencies.

Many have the vague notion it's mainly engaged in exchanges of political accusation.

They fail to realize that the Voice seeks to improve our relations with other peoples by telling listeners what we're like and how we live. In pursuing this aim, the Voice has developed a wide variety of programs ranging from rock 'n' roll to lectures on agricultural pest control.

Knowing this, anyone who listens to Galen Drake (weekdays, 10:30 a.m., EST) realizes that he often conveys the unique quality of American folk ways which would be readily understandable to people of other cultures.

For instance, the basic idea of "the war between men and women" is as familiar—and amusing—to people in Africa and the Middle East as to Americans. A Galen Drake story on this theme:

"There was a man who complained that his wife kept asking him for money, a dollar one day, five the next day, three the day after that. She never stopped wanting money. When he was asked what his wife did with all that money, he replied: 'I don't know. So far I haven't given her any.'"

Almost any anecdote dealing with the soil and man's efforts to wrest a living from it has universal appeal—and Drake seems to have thousands of them.

Drake's suitability for overseas broadcasts has undergone a considerable endurance test during the past decade as an attraction on the Armed Forces Radio Network. It recently offered his 181st rebroadcast.

Littler Matches String At New Orleans Open

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Gene Littler matched his string-straight game against the shocking power of Bill Collins today in the final round of the $20,000 New Orleans Open golf tournament.

Although a half-dozen other pros remained in the running for the $2,800 top prize, the title picture narrowed down to Littler, the leader at 209, and Collins, the runner-up with 210.

Littler, a pint-sized consistent money winner from Singing Hills, Calif., came in with a par-matching 72 Sunday.

Collins, a 230-pounder who is still a stranger to golf's headlines, trimmed two strokes off par with a 70.

Attention MOTORISTS!

NEW SALES TAX PROPOSAL WILL HIT CAR AND TRUCK BUYERS WITH Double Taxation

The Pennsylvania General Assembly now has before it a new sales tax bill which if allowed to become law would in effect double or triple tax collected on motor vehicles.

Here's an example of the tax you are now paying:

Purchase price of new car	$3,000
Less trade-in	2,000
Net difference	$1,000
You pay 3% Sales Tax on net difference only or $30.

Here's what you will be paying under the NEW TAX:

Purchase price of new car	$3,000
Less trade-in	2,000
Net difference	$1,000
You will pay 3½% of total purchase price or $105.

This is an increase in sales tax on your transaction of over 300%.

WRITE YOUR STATE SENATOR and REPRESENTATIVE.

Ask them
To vote AGAINST removing present trade-in exemptions.

bassador. Aref had been traveling throughout Iraq making fiery nationalist speeches in favor of Nasser and his concept of Arab unity.

Early in October Kassem smashed a revolt plot by supporters of Aref. The latter, who had returned from West Germany secretly, was jailed.

It began to appear that Kassem's government, instead of following the soldier-premier's announced plan to stay completely free of influence by Nasser, the West or the Communists, was drifting closer to the Reds.

Iraq signed an economic agreement with Communist East Germany on Oct. 26. Early in December it was reported that the Soviet Union would supply jets, tanks and arms to Kassem.

On Dec. 15 U.S. Asst. Secretary of State William Rounree was showered with mudballs and eggs as he arrived for talks with Kassem. The United States blamed Communists for the attack and Baghdad's leftwing press waged a bitterly anti-American campaign.

are asked for accounts for the fiscal years 1948-1955 inclusive.

The petition avers "a pattern of trickery, deception and concealment with inference of fraud and concealment inflicted upon the County of Warren with the claim that the county suffered damage in the loss of funds in an amount that cannot be determined without re-audit." It also avers that "proceedure improperly reduced the legal yearly overplus due the county."

YOUNGSMVILLE

Those who received cards of completion of the radiological course held in Warren, and assignment to that division of Civil Defense in Warren county, include Mrs. Lyle Morley, Mrs. June Carroll, Mrs. John Yagie and Donald Johnson.

Mrs. Mark Shurwin has been teaching in Pittsfield, taking the place of Mrs. Warren Jones who is ill. She expects to be able to be back in school again soon.

Former Democratic Stalwart Is Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Sen. Joseph F. Guifey of Pennsylvania, a Democratic stalwart during the New Deal era, died Friday night of a heart ailment at the age of 88.

Guifey, a power in Pennsylvania politics for decades, had lived in Washington since losing his Senate seat in the 1946 Republican landslide.

He died a few hours after being taken to Doctors Hospital. Relatives said he had been having heart trouble for the past two weeks.

Guifey, who made politics both a hobby and a career, never married. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Emma Guifey Miller, and four nephews.

Born near Pittsburgh on Dec. 29, 1870, Guifey began his rise to political prominence in 1912 when he took a gamble that paid off.

Breaking with his uncle, Col. J. M. Guifey, veteran Pennsylvania Democratic leader, Guifey backed his former Princeton University professor, Woodrow Wilson for the presidency.

Wilson won both the nomination and the election and Guifey became a power in the party.

lacerations and internal injuries. Mrs. Hinkle died as a result of internal injuries.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Frederick B. Hoer, pastor of the First Lutheran church. Interment will be in Warren County Memorial Park, Starbuck.

According to State Police, the Hinkle car was traveling west en route to Warren and Corry, and though clear vision of the tracks is possible, apparently failed to consider the train's approach. Similar to the Youngsville tragedy, the accident occurred a short distance from the couple's home at a point familiar to them and often traveled. According to Engineer B. L. Bly, 61, of Cranberry in Venango county, the station wagon was directly on the track before he saw it and when the crash took place. The front diesel suffered only slight damage; the jeep was almost completely demolished.

After an investigation conducted jointly by Coroner Ed Lowrey, State Trooper Paul Dell, Sheriff L. E. Linder and Pennsylvania Railroad officials, it was decided that there would be no inquest.

The accident occurred on a crossing five miles north of Warren, in Glade township, at the top of an approach estimated to be a 25 or 30 per cent grade. Mr. Hinkle, operator of the station wagon, told the officials that his attention was directed at the time solely on getting up the grade which was very slippery at the time. He said "if the engineer sounded the whistle and bell I didn't hear either." Engineer Bly stated that both were being sounded and his statement was corroborated by his fireman, J. W. Reinsel, of Oil City, and other members of the crew, who witnessed the crash. Reinsel said "I saw the station wagon just as we pulled into the clear north of the crossing. He appeared to be driving very slowly, and it appeared that he would have had plenty of time to stop without any difficulty." There were 28 cars in the train, eight of which were empty, en route from Olean, N. Y., to Oil City.

Damage to the front diesel was confined to the footboard steps, cinder and grabbar.

Mrs. Florence Wiant Hinkle, wife of James Dewey Hinkle, Warren RD 1, Putnam Eddy, was born in Clarion, October 6, 1905, but had lived in the Warren area for the past 30 years, moving to the Putnam's Eddy community about eight years ago. She had been employed at the Interlectric Corp. for the past 11 years. She was member of the First Lutheran church.

Surviving, besides her husband, is one son, Louis, of Corry; her mother, Mrs. Edith Wiant, of Clarion; three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Reed, Clarion; Mrs. Alice Edder, Erie; Mrs. Mary Louise Salsgiver, of Pittsburgh; one brother, Robert Wiant, of Clarion; two granddaughters, Debra Ann and Cynthia Lou Hinkle, both of Corry. There are also a number of nieces and nephews.

Cypriot Underground Ordered To Disarm

By ALEX EFTY

NICOSIA (AP) — The leader of EIOKA, the Greek Cypriot underground, finally told his followers today to lay down their arms and unite behind Archbishop Makarios in the building of the Republic of Cyprus.

"I am obliged to order the cessation of the struggle," said Col. George Grivas in a mimeographed leaflet distributed from his secret hideout on Cyprus. He expressed disappointment Cyprus had not won union with Greece—EIOKA's original aim—but said independence "is preferable to national disruption."

Pennsylvania Legislators Buckle Down To Mammoth Tax Plan To Balance Budget

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania legislators buckled down today to a mammoth tax program designed to raise the revenue needed to balance Gov. Lawrence's $1,907,000,000 budget for the next two years.

The leader of the Republican House minority described the governor as a "reasonable man" who will be willing to compromise rather than see a deadlock. He called on the Democratic lawmakers to adopt the same attitude.

"Barring a terrible tax hassle, I predict the present session will adjourn for good no later than July 1," said Rep. Albert W. Johnson (R-McKean).

"At least we on the Republican side of the House are going to prod the Legislature into finishing its business by the first of July," Johnson promised. "But a tax hassle could throw all that out the window."

During the 1955-57 session, former Gov. George M. Leader conducted a running battle with GOP lawmakers on his refusal to accept the sales tax. Eventually he had to accept the tax after a marathon 16½ month session.

Meanwhile, the House Democratic leadership set Wednesday for final passage of legislation to boost the sales tax from 3 to 3½ per cent.

"We will try for final passage Wednesday," said Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader. "If not then, the target date will be March 16."

The Legislature scheduled three sessions this week for the first time since early in the session when it was considering emergency legislation to deal with flood disasters.

The Senate convened at 3 p. m. and the House at 4:30 p. m.

Johnson said the measure never would be ready for a final vote this coming week. "Democrats have several amendments they want to settle before it can be passed and that won't be this week," Johnson said.

McCann said he also expected to see passage of a bill boosting the state's cigarette tax a penny to six cents.

Sheffield Woman Seriously Hurt In Car Accident

State police investigated an accident occurring at 2:45 a. m. Saturday when a car driven by Louise Hoden, 29, of Sheffield, went into a skid and collided with a car parked about one mile west of Clarendon on Route 6 and belonging to Richard Baker of Clarendon. The Hoden vehicle was traveling east, and the driver, with a passenger, Crystal Griffith, also of Sheffield, were taken to Warren General Hospital for treatment. Mrs. Hoden suffered back injuries and fractured left arm. Mrs. Hoden was rushed to Erie for treatment by a specialist.

Richard Baker, owner of the parked car involved, was also featured in another minor accident which happened one mile east of Clarendon on Route 6 at 9:00 a. m. Thursday, March 5.

Damage to the Hoden car was estimated at about $800.

Pittsfield Twp. Being Sued Over Park Controversy

A new facet in the still unsolved and controversial Pittsfield Park case was revealed today with announcement that auditors of the township have received a summons that Robert Lind is suing the township for $10,000 for damaging his reputation.

Charging that there was no court stenographer or no testimony other than that offered by the township, Robert Lind charges he was arrested some months ago for destroying a bench at the Park beside the World War II monument. Mr. Lind states the property belongs to him, and so far, no deed or proof of ownership has been found. The case was ruled out of court.

Charles Bennett and Willis Wentworth, chairman of supervisors and auditor of the township, respectively, have announced that they have 20 days to make an appeal, after which a date will be set in Erie for a hearing. They report efforts are under way to make a settlement out of court.

Midwest Towns Plan For "Tornado Alerts"

WELLINGTON, Kan. (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau is sharpening its tornado spotting organization in "Tornado Alerts."

More than 200 persons from 32 Kansas and 18 Oklahoma towns met here Sunday to plan a test alert April 1.

A helicopter will impersonate a tornado in three Kansas counties along the Oklahoma border.

Most tornadoes usually are sighted in May, with June second and April third.

An invitation is extended young and old alike to have a night out this Friday at the area's smoothest dance floor.

Police Biography of Sprenz Reveals Intrigue

Object of a widespread police dragnet throughout the tri-state area, Frank Lawrence Sprenz is not only sly, slippery and dangerous, but from his record appears to be a colorful person.

His varied occupations include auto mechanic, clerk-typist, construction worker, painter, lifeguard. He may wear toupees, may cover bald spot on head with bandage, wears hat or cap continuously both indoors and outdoors, may wear glasses, reportedly likes Ivy League style clothing, is said to be studious and quiet spoken.

Sprenz may pose as college student, frequents places of entertainment patronized by young people, is inclined to brag and enjoys being the "big shot," enjoys working on old cars and is an avid gun trader.

His escape from officials' hands since the Ohio bank robbery last Monday is another phase of his slick maneuvers to avoid prosecution—via stolen planes, cars, and he will even go as far as to purchase cars in his run.

Resident of Grand Valley Authors Book of Memories

A recent "letter to the Editor" provided additional proof that Warren county has in midst many artists, both in the fields of literature and poetry as well as other cultural arts. The letter referred to was postmarked Grand Valley and dated February 24, 1959.

"Dear Mr. Lowrey:
"At a friend's suggestion, I am sending you a little poem I wrote Sunday morning. The lady it was written for is my husband's step-mother, who has lived with us most of the time since she was stricken with blindness in 1952. She is still quite active, but can't see a thing. I read the poem to a friend and she liked it so well she asked me to send it to you and see if you wouldn't publish it in the Warren Times-Mirror.
"I almost feel that I know you personally from hearing and reading about you and your work as coroner, but I doubt if you have ever heard of me.

"Gertrude Ongley
"RD 1
"Grand Valley"
"Light"
I knew her when she was young and gay;
Her steps were quick and her eyes were bright;
She was busily working all through the day,
But that was when she could see the light.
Then darkness crept in upon her
And her days were turned to night;

MRS. ONGLEY

But she couldn't accept the darkness,
She desperately wanted light.
Now she wanders about in her own small world,
Groping from morn till night;
Often repeating the words of despair,
"If I only could see the light."
And we who can see, should never forget
To thank the God who gave us sight,
And follow faithfully day after day,
The Christ who told us, "I am the light."
Why do men frantically rush about,
What is it for which they are hoping?

Why do men choose darkness,
rather than light,
And spend their lives in groping?

Dear God, I am very thankful
For the light you gave to me;
Please help me always, to share that light
With those who cannot see.

Mrs. Ongley's letter also disclosed that she has authored a full book of her own poetic creations which was copyrighted in 1957 and entitled "Her Book of Memories". The 64-year old farmer's wife (as she describes herself) finds it difficult to distribute her books, particularly during the winter months and is uncertain as to whether to have another printing (the third) made containing the original collection. Copies may be secured by contacting the author at her rural home.

Agricultural Extension News

From table service to bee-keeping and from care of clothing to farm forestry are extremes that show the wide range of subjects offered by correspondence courses in agriculture and home economics of the Pennsylvania State University. Selection from a total of 64 courses may be made.

Asst. County Agent Blaine Schlosser explains that correspondence courses are a part of the Agricultural and Home Economics Extension Service, and are offered for a nominal fee to anyone.

Each course is complete in itself, but if a student wishes, he may take a series of courses of study in his special field of interest. For instance, Course 1, Plant Life, is a basic course in botany. It is not a prerequisite but is fundamental to a better understanding of several related courses, such as Propagation of Plant, Home Floriculture, Small Fruits, and other prepared by the department of Horticulture of the University.

In the field of animal husbandry are offered such courses as Animal Breeding, Dressing and Curing Meat, Sheep Husbandry, Rabbits for Meat, and many others. Two courses are offered in poultry husbandry: Poultry Keeping, contains excellent information for the general poultryman. Producing of Market Turkeys, is another of particular appeal to many Pennsylvania poultrymen.

Anyone interested in studying at home may get a complete catalog and further information on these courses from the County Agent's Office in the Courthouse Annex, Warren, or write to Correspondence Courses, Agricultural Education Building, Pennsylvania State University, University Park.

Treatment for Ewe Disease
Fragrance disease or lambing paralysis, may strike about two weeks before lambing and generally with ewes carrying twins or triplets. The onset of this disease is gradual.

Asst. County Agent, Blaine Schlosser, says symptoms of the disease are rapid and laboring breathing, ewe may stand with head against some object and grind her teeth, or may walk in circles. Later she may go down and is unable to rise. Disease may last from one to ten days.

Few cases of this disease occur where sheep are allowed to run in winter pasture, Schlosser explains. He suggests feeding hay away from barn to force sheep to exercise. Provide enough pen space—12 to 18 square feet per ewe. Feed grain during the last month of pregnancy, and don't make any abrupt changes in kind or amount of feed. If early symptoms of disease are seen, drench ewe with mixture of two ounces

A.P. Death Record

WASHINGTON (AP)—Joseph F. Guffey, 88, former Democratic senator from Pennsylvania and once a national committeeman for his party, died Friday of a heart ailment. Guffey's first big political success came in 1912 when he lined up Pennsylvania delegates to help nominate Woodrow Wilson for the presidency. He became the first Democratic senator from his state in 58 years in 1934; he failed in a third term bid in 1946.

TOKYO (AP)—Ichiro Hatoyama, 76, Japanese prime minister for three terms from December 1954 until December 1956, died of a heart attack Saturday. He was considered a firm friend of the West and played a major role in of sugar and four ounces of water, and repeat this three or four times a day. Call the veterinarian if the animal gets worse in spite of treatment.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain—without surgery.
In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.
Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astounding statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

bringing about a World War II Japan-Soviet peace agreement.

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Fred Stone, 85, musical comedy star who played in such stage hits as "Wizard of Oz," "The Red Mill" and "Jack O'Lantern," died Friday after a two-year illness. He played those shows teamed with David Montgomery as the song-and-dance act, Montgomery and Stone. He had been totally blind since a heart attack two years ago.

CHICAGO (AP)—James S. Knowlson, 75, board chairman of Stewart-Warner Corp., died Friday, apparently of a heart attack. He was vice chairman of the War Production Board from 1941 to 1943 and was awarded the Medal of Merit in 1946.

FLETCHER, N.C. (AP)—Dr. George Edward Barksdale, 89, surgeon and painter of religious and historical subjects, died Friday. Dr. Barksdale turned to art after retiring from medical practice in 1936.

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Joseph Le Blanc, 61, chairman of the Department of Modern Languages at Loyola University, died Friday, apparently of a heart attack. He was born in Paris and was educated there.
